Paper Development Workshop

A paper development workshop (PDW) will be held on Oct 11th by senior scholars and editors of leading journals.

The purpose of the PDW is to provide feedback to junior scholars and doctoral students on their research projects that are in early stages of development.

We encourage authors to submit their original work under two categories – full-length papers and idea papers. Full-length papers should not be more than 10,000 words in length, while paper ideas should not be more than 1000 words in length. The space is limited to 20 papers. Please submit your work to JWB@business.rutgers.edu by August 30, 2019 for consideration for the PDW.

Please note that the PDW participants have to register for the conference.

About AIB US NE: As the largest US Chapter in the Academy of International Business community of scholars and practitioners, AIB US NE counts close to 400 members.

Conference Overview: The global business environment is facing an unprecedented level of turbulence. After witnessing an increase in globalization for several decades, we are now facing an environment in which there is a growing skepticism of globalization. At the same time, the new technological developments in the domains such as artificial intelligence, blockchain, internet of things and big data are disrupting the existing business models and providing new avenues for firms to do business domestically and in global markets. For example, there has been an emergence of alternate organizational forms such as platform firms and shared economy firms that are disrupting incumbents and pursuing international expansion at a rate that has not been witnessed before. The disruptions caused by globalization or anti-globalization forces and technological advancements have implications for all aspects of business. We hope that this conference provides a platform for scholarly discourse on the theme of “disrupt or be disrupted”.

We welcome both scholars and practitioners to join us in Newark, during the peak of the beautiful foliage season, to discuss our theme topic and others, which could include but are not limited to the following:

- Adapting to Disruption – Global Business
- Be Disrupted - Artificial Intelligence
- Digital Disruption
- Disruptive Forces – Scope, Scale, and Economic Impact of Technology
- Disruption in a Global Environment
- Disruption in International Accounting, Economics, and Finance
- Disruption of Long-Established Patterns in the World Economy
- Disrupt or Be Disrupted
- Disruptions from Connectivity – Capital, Trade, People, Information
- Emerging Market Disruptions
- Governing a Disrupted World
- Pedagogy of International Business Disruption

We emphasize that while we are particularly interested in proposal abstracts (200-250 words) on the conference theme, we welcome submissions on any international business topic within the broader international business research agenda.

Submission Instructions

We welcome submissions in two formats – paper proposals and panel proposals.

For paper proposals, please submit a 200 word abstract of your proposal for consideration in the conference. Once your proposal is accepted, you will be invited to submit the full-length paper for consideration for the conference awards.

For panel proposals, please submit a brief (200 words) description of the panel along with the names of three to five panel members. Each panel session will last for 90 minutes and will consist of presentations by three to five delegates around the same topical area, followed by Q&A between presenters and the audience.

We are in the process of updating the submission system. A new submission area will be emailed to you as soon as our NEW WEBSITE is complete.

The best papers from the AIB US NE Conference will be invited for publication in a Special Issue of the New England Journal of Entrepreneurship (NEJE). Papers will be accepted within two months after the completion of the conference. Selected manuscripts will be published in the Spring 2020 issue. NEJE is a double-blind peer reviewed journal that aims to foster dialogue and innovation in studies of entrepreneurship and small & family-owned business management. NEJE is listed in Cabell's and is ranked in the Australian Business Deans Council (ABDC) Journal List. Since January 2018, NEJE is published by Emerald and is in the process of applying for The Emerging Sources Citation Index (ESCI). NEJE is the sponsor of the Eastern Academy of Management Annual Meeting Best Entrepreneurship Award and the sponsor of the Entrepreneurship Division of the Academy of Management Annual Meetings.

The Conference City: Newark was settled in 1666 by Connecticut Puritans led by Robert Treat from New Haven Colony. In 1693, it was organized as a New Jersey township based on the Newark Tract. Newark was granted a Royal charter in 1713 and was incorporated in 1798. Today, Newark is one of the nation's major air, shipping, and rail hubs. Prudential, Panasonic Corporation of North America, Audible.com, IDT Corporation, and Manischewitz, among other leading companies, have their headquarters in Newark. The New Jersey Performing Arts Center, near Military Park, is the nation's sixth-largest performing arts center with over 400,000 visitors each year. It is the home of the New Jersey Symphony Orchestra and State Opera. Programs include national and international music, dance, and theater. The Newark Museum is the largest in New Jersey.

Who should attend?

Representatives from all countries and from institutions of all types and missions including:

- Higher education faculty members from all disciplines
- Graduate and undergraduate students preparing to become professionals – joint proposals from graduate/undergraduate students and their faculty mentors/advisors are welcome
