TARIFFS HURT the HEARTLAND

FARMERS for FREE★TRADE

AMERICANS FOR FREE★TRADE

Global Business Club of Mid-Michigan

We invite you to join us for a "Tariffs Hurt the Heartland" virtual townhall on Wednesday, May 13th from 12:00-1:00 EST. The event is graciously co-hosted by the Global Business Club of Mid-Michigan & Tariffs Hurt the Heartland. It will feature a panel of Michigan entrepreneurs, farmers, small business owners, and manufacturers who would welcome the elimination of tariffs as they strive to navigate and survive the complexities of the market.

The program will be led by community leaders including:

- Jade Sims, Global Business Club of Mid-Michigan (co-host)
- Mark Becker, Director of International Supply, Cherry Central Cooperative
- Anne Hoef, Treasurer, Mabuchi Motor America Corp.
- Dave Milligan, President, National Association of Wheat Growers
- Greg Schroeder, Director of Global Customs and Trade, Amway
- Brad Taube, Trace Zero
- Charles Ballard, Economist, Michigan State University
- Jean Schtokal, Shareholder, Foster, Swift, Collins & Smith
- Angela Hofmann, Executive Co-Director, Farmers for Free Trade

The Michigan-focused roundtable is part of a bipartisan, nationwide, grassroots effort supported by over 160 of the country's largest trade organizations, representing thousands of businesses as well as agriculture producers, manufacturers, workers and consumers across the USA. This campaign is supported by over 150 of the country's largest trade organizations, representing thousands of businesses as well as agriculture producers, manufacturers, workers and consumers across the country. Our effort has been to elevate the stores of local economic impact as well as effect on supply chains, customers and local jobs. We've hosted roundtables at over 29 locations across the country in factory warehouses, distilleries, pecan groves and ports.
